

CURRICULUM VITAE

David Kohn

Associate Professor

Institute of Economics, Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile

Email: dkohn@bcentral.cl/davidkohn@uc.cl

Web: <https://sites.google.com/site/davidkohn16>

I. Education

- Ph.D. in Economics, New York University, 2008–2014
- M.A. in Economics, New York University, 2008–2010
- M.A. in Economics, Universidad Torcuato Di Tella, 2006–2008
- B.A. in Economics, Universidad Nacional de Córdoba, 1999–2006

II. Academic Positions & Work Experience

- Head, Big Data Analytics Department, Central Bank of Chile (2023–Present)
- Associate Professor of Economics, UC Chile (2023–Present)
- Assistant Professor of Economics, UC Chile (2017–2023)
- Assistant Professor of Economics, Universidad Torcuato Di Tella (2014–2016)

III. Research Positions & Professional Involvement

- Research interests: macroeconomics, international trade, international macroeconomics, international finance
- Research visitor at the Rochester Center on the Global Economy, Rochester USA (2025)
- Board member, Chilean National Association of Economics (SECHI) (2022–2023)
- Advisor, Ministry of Finance of Chile: Non-Mining Trend GDP Committee (2022–2023)
- Speaker at the “5 Big Ideas Event” organized by Procter & Gamble (2023)

IV. Selected Publications

- Kohn, D. et al. (2023). No credit, no gain: Trade liberalization dynamics, production inputs, and financial development. International Economic Review, 64(2), 809–836.

- Kohn, D. et al. (2023). Financial frictions and international trade: A review. Oxford Research Encyclopedia of Economics and Finance, 2022.
- Kohn, D. et al. (2021). Commodity trade and emerging market business cycles. AEJ: Macroeconomics, 13(3), 173–208.
- Kohn, D. et al. (2020). Financial frictions and export dynamics in large devaluations. Journal of International Economics, 122, 103257.

V. Teaching Activities

- International Macroeconomics Theory (M.A./Ph.D. in Economics, UC Chile)
- Financial Crises (M.A. in Applied Economics, UC Chile)
- International Macroeconomics (Undergraduate, UC Chile)

VI. Institutional Service

- Organizer, SECHI Annual Meetings (2022–2023) and Santiago Macroeconomics Workshop (2018, 2021)
- Referee for leading economics journals including Journal of Political Economy, AEJ: Macroeconomics, and International Economic Review
- Advisor and Ph.D. supervisor for graduate students at UC Chile (2017–Present)